Mike Gabbard offers to serve in the spirit of aloha and kupono

"I have great respect and aloha for the people of Hawaii and I'm humbly offering to serve them in Congress. I'll be going door to door in every community, meeting people and offering to be their servant—to represent their values, concerns, and interests in Congress."

Mike is a long-time educator and teacher known for devoting his life to serving others. He's also a proven leader and serves on the City Council. Mike is an environmentalist and small businessman. His wife Carol is a member of the Board of Education. Mike and Carol's daughter Tulsi Gabbard Tamayo is a state legislator.

Mike is also known statewide as the leader of the fight to protect traditional marriage.

"In 1998 we set aside our political, ethnic, and religious differences and worked together to protect the sacred institution of marriage. We need to continue working together in that same spirit of love (aloha) with the courage to stand up for what's right (kupono)! Only then can we overcome the many challenges we face—such as improving education, protecting the environment, winning the war on terrorism, and strengthening our economy."

"I have been blessed with many opportunities to be of service--as a teacher, educator, coach--and in so many other ways.

"And now, in the spirit of aloha and kupono, I humbly offer to serve the people of Hawai'i in Congress."
